Christmas cards at Ogden Bros.
Ogden Bros. have a beautiful line of Christmas cards this season.

From the number of ladies in at Cullen & Newman's yesterday, it must have been a busy day in that establishment. The ladies all seem to admire the beautiful dresses and tea sets on exhibition on their counters, and well they might, for a better selection of ware would be hard to find. We would be willing to wager a good deal that my lady in the land would object to a Christmas present selected at Cullen & Newman's.

W. B. McKinney, editor of the Daily Enterprise, at Bonanza, Okla., was married in Edgemoor, Mo., to Miss M. H. Haskins, daughter of the late Dr. Haskins, formerly postmaster at Nashville.

Mr. Jas. Confort, attorney, made a sale at Chattanooga, Thursday, of some land near that place belonging to the late Commercial Bank. One tract of 40 acres was sold for $1,000, and another 40-acre tract for $625.

Prof. Allan Orr delivered his last lecture at the opera-house last night, on the House of Commons, and Mrs. Orr accompanied him with relations. The entertainment was for the benefit of the Baptist Church organ fund.

The case of Anderson (?) M. C. Taylor, colored, mentioned in my day or two since, terminated by Anderson Taylor and Jim Morrow both waiving examination and pleading bond over to court on the charge of assault and battery. A warrant was also issued for the person for assault and battery also, but he skipped out.

Chattanooga's new board of aldermen apparently take very little interest in city affairs. An effort has been made every week for about a month since the election, to have a meeting, but have been unable to get a quorum present. As a consequence no organization has yet been effected, and business of importance is neglected.

An unruly horse, ridden by Mr. John Ross, took fright while he was riding from the depot yesterday and became uncontrollable. Some school girls were in the street in front of Peter Kinnel's, and although he shouted at them to get out of the way, a little daughter of Mr. John Kinnel was struck in the forehead and narrowly escaped a dangerous hurt. Her injuries were not serious, however.

More People Made Happy.
The past week, we are informed, has been an unusually good one for the sale of Symphylax, and very many people have, no doubt, been relieved by its use. The changeable weather of the season is almost sure to bring colds, coughs, and lung troubles with it, and Symphylax is in demand as a consequence, for the people begin to understand its value in such diseases.

Mr. Geo. W. Ross, of the Knoxville Marble Company, and his brother, Mr. John S. Ross, of Clinton, departed on the early train Tuesday morning. They expected to take in the Atlanta Exposition for a day or two, and will then go for a trip of a few weeks to Florida, inspecting their orange plantations in that State and hunting wild game.

Capt. S. M. Dyer, of the firm of Young & Dyer, arrived yesterday, from New Market, where he took his family a few days since, but where they will make their home.

David Davies, of Mechanicsville, last Friday, purchased a scholarship from Messrs. Jones & Sons of the Knoxville Business College.

Mr. William R. Seymour, of Columbus, O., writes: "I attended a course of lectures several winters ago at the Ohio Medical College of Cincinnati, O. There I was taught that 'Iron is a prominent element in the physical organism of mankind; without it life is impossible. A vast percentage of the diseases and premature deaths to which the race is subject, is caused, or at least made possible by a weakening of the body in consequence of a lack of Iron in the blood.' Having suffered from ill health, poor digestion and urinary troubles ever since I recovered from typhoid fever, complicated with malarial fever, I determined to give Iron a trial. From investigation I learned that Brown's Iron Bitters were the best, and that they did not blacken the teeth, so I concluded to make use of them. They have acted like a charm. I never before felt so robust, hearty and strong."

Sudden Death of Alex. Farmer.

Alex. Farmer, a locomotive engineer, died quietly suddenly at the boarding house of Mrs. Brown, on Summit Hill, between 6 and 7 o'clock last night. Alex was well-known in Knoxville, having run an engine for years, both on the E. T. V. & G. and Maryville railroads. At that time he was large, robust and the very picture of health.

More recently he ran an engine on the Alabama Great Southern Railway. While there he contracted disease which ran into something like consumption, and he came to Knoxville a few months since, a perfect shadow of his former self, scarcely recognized by his friends. He tried various remedies, and did recover somewhat, but soon relapsed.

He boarded at Mrs. Brown's, being here under treatment. Last night he ate a hearty supper, went into the sitting room and remarked that he felt better, and believed he would get well. In a few minutes, however, he began to cough violently, and to spit blood, which soon began to flow freely, from the effect of a hemorrhage. He stood up and remarked that he was choking up and was going to die. Then the blood gushed in a tremendous stream from his mouth, he sank back into his chair, and was dead before any assistance could reach him.

The deceased was perhaps near 40 years of age, and leaves a wife and one son, about 15 years of age, who were at their home, about 24 miles from London. Capt. Green B. Harrison telegraphed his wife immediately, telling her to come on the first train.

He was a member of Maxwell Lodge, F. & A. Masons, of this city, and will be buried with Masonic honors. The time and place of the funeral could not be fixed upon, however, until the arrival of the wife.

Having been troubled with a very bad Cough for about two years, and having tried almost every cough mixture that was ever made, I have found none that has given me such great relief as Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and I earnestly recommend it to all afflicted. BENJ. F. DRUGGANS, 14 Park Pl., N. Y.

Funeral of Dan. Gurley.
The funeral of the late Engineer Dan. C. Gurley, whose death was announced, occurred yesterday afternoon, from Broad Street Church, of which he was a member, and a steward. The body was taken charge of at the residence by the Old Fellows, who turned out in a large body, and conveyed to the church, followed by a large funeral cortege. The church was filled to overflowing, a great many being unable to get in hearing distance. The services were conducted by Rev. J. T. Frazer, the pastor, assisted by Rev. Jas. A. Lyons and Dr. W. A. Harrison, and were of a solemn and impressive character, bringing tears to the eyes of many stout and manly hearts. After the services the remains were followed to Gray cemetery for interment. The funeral ceremony at the grave was performed by the Old Fellows, the services being read by Mr. W. R. Cooper, assisted by Mr. W. P. Baker. The crowd in attendance was one of the largest ever witnessed in Knoxville, and the turn out was a high tribute to the worth of the deceased, and the estimation in which he was held.

Mr. Gurley was also a member of Pioneer Council No. 34, American Legion of Honor, and his wife will get as the death benefit, the sum of $5,000 therefrom. He formerly held only $2,000 but raised it to $5,000 recently.

SEEKERS AFTER HEALTH.
Unfortunately who are seeking to renew their health, are many. So often have they been deceived by the advertisements of worthless compounds, that many are discouraged, and refuse to believe anything they read in the papers. Therefore, the best advertisement of a really good medicine is the reputation it has gained in places where it is being sold. No other remedy ever discovered has grown so rapidly in public favor as that medicinal tonic called Brown's Iron Bitters. In localities where its extraordinary merits have become fully known and realized by those who have been in ill-health, the sale is unprecedented. One druggist in our city reports the sale of 238 bottles in one week. It is, indeed, a wonderful, health-giving, life-saving preparation. It is soothing and refreshing in its effect, and strengthens every part of the body, and creates healthy appetite and digestion, even when the system is almost destroyed by the many hurtful cathartics so commonly used. Reader, beware! duty demands that you try Brown's Iron Bitters, if your health is poor from any cause.

Be Sensible.
You have allowed your bowels to become habitually constive, your liver has become torpid, the same thing ails your kidneys, and you are just used up. Now be sensible and get a package of Kidney-Wort, take it faithfully and soon you will forget you've got any such organs, for you will be a well man.—Albany Argus.

Reception.
The residence of Mr. J. J. Young, on Asylum street, was crowded last night with friends of the family, the occasion being a reception tendered Mr. A. L. Young, our worthy Market Square merchant, and his bride, Mrs. Miss Lela Cooper, of Nashville. It was a pleasant occasion and much enjoyed by all.

FIFTIETH POINT.

Almost every country has its national melody, but the waltz is the music of the world.

Tunes is a limit—First young lady: "I could sit here forever." Second ditto: "And I till much time."

Why is wine that has been bottled for years like an unmarried lady of advanced age? Because it is old made, and none the worse for it.

Dr. JOHNSON once, speaking of a quarrelsome fellow, said: "If he had two ideas in his head they would fall out with each other."

EMERSON says "a man passes for what he is worth." No, he doesn't, he passes for the sake of getting a new trump.—Lowell Courier.

If you judge of Brown's character by the umbrella he carries, you will form a very poor opinion of Smith, for it is Smith's umbrella.

When a man tells a story he thinks is funny and the crowd does not catch on, his face falls, naturally. It is affected by the force of gravity.

NOTWITHSTANDING the declamation of Prohibitionists, a rubicund-visaged friend of ours asserts that a "sling" in the hand is better than a hand in a sling.—Cambridge Tribune.

A WITNESS was on the stand in an illegal liquor-sale case. The counsel was trying to find out in what kind of a glass the liquor was handed to the witness, and at last exclaimed: "What kind of a looking glass was it?" "Bogoras, sir, it was not a looking-glass at all; it was a tumbler."

The English word "Ingague" is creeping into American newspapers, and without reason. Ingague is derived from the Greek word "ingague," meaning "to be ingaged." It is not ingaged in the American system. They are smashed. Smashage is the word.—Indianapolis News.

Prof. HARRIS, a Boston scientific sharp, says: "There is a coming of the macrocosm into the microcosm." Well, what of it? If the microcosm is larger than the macrocosm, and the macrocosm wants to go in, and has got a ticket, we don't see what it is to prevent it. Give us something new.—Peck's Sun.

"Who's that frizzly, black-haired woman talking to my husband on the ottoman?" "She's a Mrs. Cardigan." "Indeed! she's good at flattering people, I should say, and knows how to lay it on pretty thick." "Ah! you infer that, no doubt, from her attitude and expression?" "Oh, dear, no! from my husband's."

A COUNTRY girl at a fashionable hotel in the city noticed that all the guests used their forks only in eating pie. Upon her return home she reported the fact to the old lady, who comforted her by observing: "You should not mind 'em, Jimmie; it's all because they're too lazy to use their knives."

STRANGE IMPERTINENCE. Pastor— "Yes, Mrs. Brown. Taking into consideration the fact that the Smiths hardly ever pay their rent, it is strange they had taste on their part to sing so loudly and throw such unctious into their prayers." Mrs. Brown—"Quite too terribly shocking!"—London Fun.

AR CHANTANT a little girl was asked if she was a Methodist. "Oh! no!" she replied. "I am a Brethren, and my mother is a Brethren, too." These were of the United Brethren. At Mount Pleasant one of the Plymouth Brethren was asked why they never spoke of the Plymouth sisters. "Oh!" was his answer, "the Brethren embrace the sisters."

A BOSTON man took occasion to remark to his wife: "My dear, the infinite ways in which a Methodist can be a 'dilettante'!" She was a droll woman, who didn't take hints, but she never forgot the remark, and long afterward, when some friends expressed a wish to visit the dear old lady's asylum, she turned to her husband and asked: "What days, my love, is the asylum of the infinite open for the reception of finite visitors?"

DEEP-POT—DAY-POT—DEEP-POT. Said Master Jones: "Now must we not without delay to the deep-pot?" "Let's start at once to the day-pot," said Mrs. Jones. "In quick step, oh, we'll all run down to the deep-pot, and the secrets in the flowers that be!" "I expect to-day from the city's bell—tomorrow he'll be the rose as well!" (The Post.)

On gorgeous thrones he'll sit along: Nothing for this world careth he; But for the million's laughter and song And the secrets on their lips that be: To-day he'll be the brown-eyed rebel, tomorrow he'll be the king of the sea!
